Taxes in the Edmonton Metropolitan Region
Information brief

“Death, taxes and childbirth! There's never any convenient time for any of them.” Margaret Mitchell, Gone with the Wind (Goodreads 2019)

Tax Summary Overview
This brief is for companies that are incorporated, with (actual/forecasted) income over $500,000, and operating in the Edmonton Metropolitan Region.

Corporations in Alberta pay taxes on property, income (profit), and payroll (Employment Insurance, EI; Canada Pension Plan, CPP). Employers are responsible for withholding employee contribution portion for EI and CPP.

This brief does not discuss:

- Taxation related to farmland and energy in particular electricity generation, mining, oil extraction and gas extraction.
- Taxation of linear property (such as pipelines) and vacant land.
- Small businesses with incomes below $500,000, which may be subject to tax relief.
- Taxation of other legal organizations such as sole proprietorships and partnerships.

Non-Residential Tax
- Businesses pay taxes based on the value of the non-residential property.
- The tax rate can be expressed as a mill rate, which is equal to the amount of tax paid per $1,000 of assessed value.
- Current municipal tax rates are available in the Tax Rate Bylaws and published by Alberta Municipal Affairs, in the Audited Financial Statements and Tax Rate Bylaws (Government of Alberta 2018).

A firm that is leasing property would pay based on the terms in their lease.

Education Property Tax
- Property owners pay education taxes.
- The Government of Alberta determines the amount of education tax that is requisitioned from municipalities.
- The individual municipality is responsible for collecting the education tax dollars from property owners.
- The education property tax is levied on the value of non-residential buildings.
- Machinery and equipment property is exempt from education tax (Government of Alberta 2019).

Taxes on Machinery and Equipment
Some, but not all, municipalities in Alberta charge an assessed-value tax on equipment.
- The tax the property owner pays is based on the value of machinery and equipment.
- The tax rate for machinery and equipment at the level of the municipality is available from the Alberta Municipal Affair Tax Rate Bylaws (Government of Alberta 2018).

Goods and Services Tax
There are no consumption, retail or sales taxes at the provincial or municipal level in Alberta.
- The federal Goods and Services Tax (GST) is a multi-level value-added tax. The ultimate tax liability is intended to be borne entirely by the final consumer. To achieve this result, businesses that purchase goods and services that are consumed, used or supplied in the course of their commercial activities, can claim input tax credits.
- To claim the input tax credit businesses must register with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) as GST registrants.
- The GST in Alberta/Canada is currently 5% and has not changed since January 1, 2008.
- The treatment for the GST differs from the U.S., which does not charge value-added tax. States and municipalities may charge a single-stage retail sales tax.
Corporate Income Taxes
As of January 1, 2020, the combined federal and provincial rate in Alberta is 25%.

- The current federal corporate income tax rate is 15% (Government of Canada 2019).
- The current provincial corporate income tax rate is 10% (Government of Alberta 2019).

Employment Insurance (EI) and Canada Pension Plan (CPP)
All businesses in Canada with employees must pay EI and CPP. Additionally the employer is responsible for submitting employer and employee premiums for EI and CPP to the Canada Revenue Agency.

- The rate is set annually and covers up to an annual earnings maximum.
- The EI rate is 1.58% up to maximum annual insurable earnings (2020 maximum earnings are $54,200).
- The maximum annual employer premium for EI is $1,198.90 (Government of Canada 2019).
- For CPP, the maximum annual pensionable earnings in 2020 are $58,700. The employer and employee contribution rate is 5.25%. The maximum yearly employee and employer contributions in 2020 are $2,898 (Government of Canada 2019).
Other Taxes

- Municipalities may charge a Business Improvement Areas tax (BIA), Local Improvement tax (LI), and special tax (The Alberta Urban Municipalities Association 2019).
  - A group of businesses within an area can use BIA to make their area more attractive. Budgeting and spending are all controlled by the businesses themselves.
  - LI is levied only in specific instances when a capital project is requested by local property owners. The local improvement requires 50% agreement from property owners in the area to be undertaken. If sufficient support exists, the municipality borrows money to perform the capital project and amortizes the cost of that project over a 15 to 25 year period. Cost accrue to the property owner and follow the property (new owners take over existing LI charges).
  - Special tax is similar to LI, but the full project cost is levied within a specific year.

- The province also collects taxes on the consumption of fuel, tobacco, and tourism (hotel levy) (Government of Alberta 2019). There’s also a Federal Excise on gasoline in addition to the provincial, which is levied on consumption but not businesses specifically.

- The provincial and federal government may also charge fees (cost recovery) related to business permits and applications; utilities; transportation.

- Alberta Recycling is a not-for-profit managing the province’s recycling programs for tires, electronics, paint, and used oil (Alberta Recycling Management Authority (Alberta Recycling) 2019).

More information on municipal taxes in Alberta can be found on the Alberta Urban Municipalities Association and Alberta Municipal Services Corporation webpage Fundamentals of the Property Taxation System (Alberta Urban Municipalities Association and Alberta Municipal Services Corporation 2019).
Corporate Tax Incentives

Detailed and up to date listing on subsidies and incentives for corporations are available from the Government of Canada web application Grow Your Business (Government of Canada 2019).

Three programs may be relevant to companies making investments in Alberta are the Accelerated Capital Cost Allowance, the Scientific Research and Experimental Development program and the Film and Tax Credit:

1) The Accelerated Capital Cost Allowance came into effect on November 21, 2018. The incentive is scheduled to expire in 2028 (Government of Canada 2018). There are three categories of the allowance:
   a) Immediate Expensing for Manufacturers and Processors. This incentive allows businesses to immediately write off the cost of machinery and equipment used for the manufacturing or processing of goods.
   b) Immediate Expensing for Clean Energy Investments. This incentive allows businesses to immediately write off the full cost of specified clean energy equipment.
   c) The Accelerated Investment Incentive is an accelerated capital cost allowance (i.e., the larger deduction for depreciation) for businesses of all sizes, across all sectors of the economy, that are making capital investments.

2) The Scientific Research and Experimental Development (SR&ED) Program is a federal tax incentive program designed to encourage Canadian businesses of all sizes and in all sectors to conduct research and development (R&D) in Canada. (Government of Canada 2018)
   a) The investment tax credit will be at least 15% and can be as much as 35% of qualified SR&ED expenditures. Generally, Canadian-controlled private corporations can earn an investment tax credit of 35% on their qualified expenditures up to a maximum of $3 million. The investment tax can be refundable or applied against taxes the corporation owes. (Government of Canada 2014)

3) The Film and Television Tax Credit (FTTC) is a refundable tax credit for corporations (Government of Alberta, Tax and Revenue Administration 2020). The FTTC replace the Screen-based Production Grant.
